In Loving Memory

Three years have passed since you left this world, yet you remain a part of every moment. We think about you every single day — your voice, your humor, the way you made every room feel lighter. Your absence is felt in so many ways, but your presence lives on in the biggest one: through your son.

We see you in his smile, in his curiosity, in the way he grows more like you with each passing year. Your love continues to shape his life, even from a place that feels entirely too far away. We miss you deeply, but we hold onto the gift you left, a son who carries your spirit forward.

Forever Loved, Forever Remembered.
